About Me

After finishing high school, I decided to pursue my passion for programming and I joined a coding bootcamp to study font-end development. It was an exciting journey where I learned HTML, CSS and JavaScript which paved the way to creating exciting user interfaces.
I'm passionate about creating user-friendly interfaces. With my expertise I carefully design every detail to ensure a visually stunning experience on all devices. In addition to front-end design, I specialize in building sustainable backend solutions. From database management to API development - I ensure excellent integration with the user interface to provide a great user experience.
